

Taking health and safety to new heights in real estate

Client vision:

As the leading real estate agent in Abu Dhabi, Aldar are passionate about delivering results at the highest standard for their people, customers and stakeholders. Aldar approached 4see with the objective of moving their Occupational Health and Safety performance to the next level and achieving global-leading levels of health and safety management across their portfolio.

How 4see helped:

During the first year of implementation the results were emphatic across all sites. Audit scores were up by an average of 12%, incident rates were reduced by 18% and reported incidents were promptly investigated and learning outcomes shared with all other sites. In the second year, the results were even more dramatic with audit scores up by an average of 17% and incident rates further reduced with significant cost savings recorded from the previous year.

All these changes and improvements have resulted in health and safety being openly discussed and has ensured that the best practices are shared, both within the company and with their service providers who are appreciative.

“ Since we first started working with 4see, we have built a strong relationship and trust in the team and their advice. They have the resources and the ability to provide support that reaches all levels of our business and includes all aspects of health and safety management tailored to our needs at Aldar. ”
