Client vision:

twofour54 is an innovative media zone that delivers world-class production services. 4see were set the challenge of delivering health and safety support that could be utilised across a variety of unique environments and scenarios to supplement twofour54's internal team. This support would need to be adaptable to the unique culture and working environment of the twofour54 activities.

How 4see helped:

Following an initial audit that included ensuring the client was fully prepared for their OSHAD audit, 4see developed a service level agreement that could be called on as and when required by the client. This meant that support and resources could be used against pre-agreed rates for short duration projects consisting of one or two hours, to weekly support for a set number of hours, and full time support over a project cycle, ensuring that all high risk activities are properly planned and managed. 4see have established an excellent relationship with twofour54 and we have become their first stop for any occupational health and safety requirements or enquiries. The client now has a competent source of support that can be used on any project that the Film and TV services have to manage, no matter the duration or level of risk.

“I would like to take the opportunity to thank you for your continuous support in making our health and safety a success and a code for our partner to follow. I'm very happy with the support that 4see provided Film and TV services in preparing our site for our OSHAD audit.”
